Huang Po and the Dimensions of Love (Crab Orchard Series in Poetry) Wally Swist

In Huang Po and the Dimensions of Love, poet Wally Swist blends themes of love and epiphany to lead readers into a more conscious interaction with the world around them. These ethereal poems call upon a spirituality unfettered to any specific religion, yet universal and potent in its scope, offering a window through which life can be not only viewed but also truly experienced.

This luminescent collection illustrates the joys to be found in the everyday world and the power of existence. Unveiled here are the twin edges of love and madness; the quiet mysteries and revelations of a New England night or the glittering spark of snowdrops; the sharp scents of sugar maple and cinnamon; and the rustle of a junco's wings. From the restoration and peace of silence or the rush of a brook, to spiraling hawks and Botticelli's "The Annunciation," Swist's poems linger somewhere between the earthbound and the sublime.
