Lambs Love and Laughter: I also had a farm in Africa Kate Fagalde

If you ever wondered what it would be like to be able to say "I had a farm in Africa" then this is the book for you. Join forces with Kate and her French husband Jean as they leave behind their safe organised lives and embark on the task of building a relationship while breathing life back into a derelict farm on the borders of South Africa and Lesotho.

For nine years, they experienced the worst drought in living memory, suffered raging grass fires and deep snow while raising a lamb that thought it was a dog and hosting a deer who behaved like a rugby player. While Kate produced croissants and chicken pies which she exchanged for lucerne and knowledge, Jean scaled their only windmill or stripped the ancient diesel generator to coax a bit more life from them, and what they knew about farming could be etched on the head of a pin.

Explore the extraordinary Bulklip Rock and discover the ancient Bushman paintings. Lie on the lawns on a summer's evening counting satellites and feast at the farmhouse table on food grown by a lot of wit and very little water.

If you ever wanted to live life a little bit on the edge doing something slightly out of the ordinary, then you are invited to take an armchair trip to Bulklip Farm and discover what life can be like when you combine Lambs, Love and Laughter.
